Harran County Tragedy.

Dr. William T. Nolan, a young physician of Harlan county, shot and killed John Turner and his uncle, Will Turner, on Wednesday. It seems that John Turner was attacked Dr. Nolan and was killed, and that Will Turner later hearing of the killing, made an attack upon the slayer of his nephew and met the same fate. The Turners belonged to one and Nolan to the other of the Howard-Turner factions.

The examining trials of H. C. Turner, Bruce Turner, Thomas Blair and the son of Capt. J. L. Bonar, on our last Monday, was called before Lewis Apperson on Wednesday. Bruce Turner, Thos. Blair and J. A. McKenzie were held in bonds of $5,000 each, to await the action of the Grand Jury, and Clay Turner was dismissed. The parties held gave bond for their appearance and were released.

Shepherdsville comes to the front as the only Kentucky city represented in the list of purchasers of the new $50,000 issue of Government bonds. Two buyers take bonds amounting to $3,000. A list of all the subscribers with the amounts allotted each was sent to the Senate by Secretary Carlisle.

As anticipated the Supreme Court of Kansas Thursday decided that Gov. Lewelling was without authority to remove Mrs. Lease from her position on the State Board of Charities.

Only Valentines in city at T. P. Martin & Co.'s.

If you wish to reach the stockmen of this section advertise your horse in the ADVOCATE.

James McKee has sold his residence property, on East High street, to Mr. Sam Green, for $1000.

Don't forget the ADVOCATE reaches every stockman whose property you would care for. Advertise your horse in the ADVOCATE.

Mr. R. C. Robinson bought, yesterday, of Mrs. Maria Glover, through Henry Watson, Real Estate Agent, property on Lexington avenue, for $1700 cash.

Those who fail to see Prof. Wilson and his trained dogs, and hear the Montgomery Mandolin Club, at the Opera House Friday night, will never cease to regret it.

Don't fail to read W. P. Oldham & Co.'s advertisement each week. Read it clear through, there are always some specialties. This week, he makes a special offer of lamps.

John A. Judy, of this county, a graduate of Georgetown College, is reading law with Tyler & Apperson. He is a bright young man, and we hope to see him attain to a high position in his chosen profession.

A special from Retro, Tenn., tells of an anomaly which puzzles the medical fraternity. Eliza Worthington, a colored girl, lately gave birth to triplets, all boys. Two were black as the ace of spades, while the third was white as any Caucasian babe.

Edward Bok's successful article in the January "Cosmopolitan" on "The Young Man in Business" has been reprinted in a tasteful and handy booklet form at 10 cents by The Curtis Publishing Company, of Philadelphia. To this reprint Mr. Bok has added some 14 pages of editorial matter answering "Three Uncertain Young Men."

Mr. W. W. Scott, a prosperous farmer of July neighborhood and Miss Alice Willoughby daughter of Mr. F. M. Willoughby of Aaron Run neighborhood, were married at Conserville Ind., on Wednesday, Jan. 31. The couple returned home on Thursday and are receiving the congratulations of friends.

Mat. Todd, a young farmer living some four miles East of Richmond, Ky., was brutally murdered on Saturday night by a negro. It seems young Todd, who was a bachelor, was sitting in his room reading, when the negro came to the widow and fired upon him with a shot gun loaded with buckshot, and then went into the house and finished the work on the dying man with a knife. Our informant tells us the negro was arrested, confessed the crime, and claims he was hired by other parties to do the terrible deed.

Died, at her home, near Bethel, Saturday, January 20, 1894, Mrs. Lean Bell (nee Talbot) widow of the late R. E. Bell, in her 75th year. She was born in Bourbon county, in 1816, and was married to R. E. Bell, of Fleming county, in 1834. Four children survived her—Mrs. J. W. Patrick and Mrs. Elizabeth Arnett, of Bethel; Mrs. W. R. Hazard, of Covington, and John Bell, of Texas. Her husband died October 19, 1893, and she was left standing on the brink waiting for the summons, when she would be called to join her loving and devoted husband. No words can fully picture the loving character of our departed friend. A woman of a sweet and lovely disposition, a loving wife, affectionate mother, and kind friend. While her last sickness was accompanied by the severest pain, she bore it bravely and without a single murmur she passed away to join her friends in that land of pure delight. Her funeral was preached at her home Sunday at 1 o'clock p. m., by Rev. Howe, of Flemingsburg, after which she was laid to rest by the side of her husband in Longview Cemetery.

"Dearest mother, how we miss thee, And thy loss we deeply feel. But thy loss we deeply feel, Knowing thou dost all good well; For God has marked each sorrowing day; And numbered every secret tear; And Heaven's long age of bliss shall pay, For all His children suffer here."

CONVICTION.

It Must Have Been Prejudice.

NOTHING IN THE CHARGE

From the newspaper items and persons who have been at Clinton, Ky., we have gathered that Mr. R. A. Mitchell has been convicted on a charge of false swearing, and his punishment fixed at one year's imprisonment. For our people who have known Dick from his cradle up, who have loved and honored him with office, and who to-day have not lost confidence in him, we give the following facts:

The case against Mr. Mitchell is a prosecution against him under the above charge in which John Carter was the principal actor. The facts in the case are these:

Mr. Mitchell was made assignee of the Fulton Bank, which held a note against Carter of $5,000 for collection. Mitchell brought suit against Carter, and not being ready for trial, made affidavit for a continuance. Mr. A. T. Mitchell had informed him that the note had been rediscounted to the New Farmers' Bank and that his name, as cashier of the Fulton Bank, was on the note as proof of the same.

Before Mr. R. A. Mitchell swore to affidavit, he told his attorneys that he had no personal knowledge of the fact, but had no right to doubt the statement of Mr. A. T. Mitchell, and they advised him that he could swear to it according to his best knowledge and belief, and did so; and on his trial Mr. A. T. Mitchell and also the attorneys testified to this, and the only evidence against him (Mr. Mitchell) was by a person who said he could find no record on the books of the Fulton Bank, showing that the note had been discounted to the New Farmers' Bank, and with this evidence the jury brought in the verdict.

With this statement, which we have from H. Clay McKee, we fail to see any felonious intent, and can account for the verdict only on the grounds of prejudice. A telegram from Fulton to the Louisville Times, of Saturday saying that Mr. R. A. Mitchell had testified recklessly and that the Judge had warned him to be careful, is only a sample of the stuff that is going out. Mr. McKee heard Mr. Mitchell's evidence and says there was nothing to justify any such statement, and that the Judge made no such remark. When we review the facts and connect them with other facts, that the people of that section had lost heavily by the Fulton Bank, we can come to but one conclusion; that it was prejudice that did it.

The greatest change noticed in literary matters the past year, is the tendency with which the publishers of The Southern Magazine have pushed into the field a monthly of great excellence, until now one can get this Magazine at all news stands in the United States where the Century is sold. And it is bought, too; and so will it grow in popularity, to the South's great reward, so sure its standard is maintained, which seems as sure as every issue marks a literary and artistic improvement.

It is known among publishers that The Southern Magazine has larger news stand sales in New York than in New Orleans, larger in Boston than in Louisville, and the knowledge would seem to demand a more vigorous interest at home in this its greatest of all publications. It is known that the success of the excellent monthly has been great, even in the South, but it is to be observed that Southerners feel Rev. Joseph Feix has declined the call to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Winchester.

Reports from the upper Licking say there has been a splendid tide and a big run of timber has been, and is being brought out.

The Montgomery Mandolin and Guitar Club and Prof. Wilson, with his trained dogs, will perform at the Opera House on Friday night. Go to see them.

John Keith, of near Steppone, this county, succeeded by shooting himself in the head with a pistol, on Tuesday morning last. No cause assigned for the death.

James Beecraft, aged 19, died of consumption at the home of his cousin, Samuel Beecraft, on Spencer, February 2. He was buried at Olympia on Monday of last week.

The body of Captain Bonner, who was killed on Monday last, was, on Wednesday, sent to his brother, D. G. Bonner, at Bonniville, Hart county, for burial. A telegram having been received requesting that it be so sent.

Prof. "Bony" Wilson will exhibit his trained dogs, at the Opera House Friday evening. He is to be assisted by the Montgomery Mandolin Club. This unique entertainment calls for a liberal patronage from our citizens.

I. M. McGuire, of Morgan county, was in the city last week. He had been to Parker's Ferry with logs and sold at that place at $1.40. There has been a good tide in the River, and a large number of logs have been put on the market.

J. M. Oliver, J. W. Chonault and J. C. B. Duff, special Circuit Court Commissioners to set apart a home stead for S. P. Hunt, gave him 15 acres off the West end of his property on Winn street, from Winn street to Stoops line.

The four weeks allowed by law for the term of our Circuit Court expired on Saturday, but Judge J. E. Cooper extended the term. The probability is, the urgent business before the Court, will occupy its attention the entire week.

Jacob DeHaven's heirs have sued and are taking steps towards the collection of $4,000,000 due them from the U. S. Government for money loaned the government in 1800 and interest from the date. W. A. DeHaven of this city is supposed to be one of the heirs and is investigating the matter as to hiship.

George E. Owens has rented out his farm of 40 acres, on the Grassy Lick pile, for $800; thirty-four acre to Robert Clark, of Bath county, for $600, and six acres to William Garrison for $200. Mr. Owens has rented the residence property of Mrs. William Stephens, on South Queen street.

Mr. J. A. Withers and bride of Louisville, who have been visiting Mr. Withers' father and family in Sharpsburg, returned to their home on Friday.

Mr. Withers has many friends in this section who are glad to be among those who congratulate him in securing a splendid woman to share with him the joys and sorrows they come, the ills of life as well. The stay of the couple in Bath was an exceedingly pleasant one.

Supt. George J. Luckey, of the Pittsburg city schools, is engaged in examining a number of Roman Catholic nuns who desire to become teachers in the Riverside public schools. There was some opposition to the employment of nuns by certain patriotic orders, but Mr. Luckey received instructions from the State Superintendent of Schools that he should examine them if they applied in their family names, and not as members belonging to any particular church or organization.

WATER WORKS.

Reservoir Located and Lands Bought.

Last Saturday Mr. C. C. Peters engineer for the Water Works Construction Company received a telegram from the officials directing him to close with Mr. J. Davis O'Brien for 15 acres of land. Mr. Peters made the deal and took an option on two acres more, which he thought would be necessary to have. This would make an available water supply, with a surface covering 17 acres at an average depth of eight feet. There were several parties here Saturday, hoping to make contracts with the Construction Company, but nothing could be done until after the purchase of ground for reservoir, and hence, the impossibility to let contracts.

The case against Mr. R. A. (Dick) Mitchell, of this city, charged with false swearing, was heard in the Hickman Circuit Court, and on Thursday the jury returned a verdict of guilty, fixing his punishment at one year in the penitentiary. This verdict was a complete surprise to his friends here. It was known that the pre-judgment in that section was very strong against Mr. Mitchell, but his attorney, who had been attending the case for him, did not think there was anything of moment in it; in fact, because he had other important matters to engage his attention here, and did not think it necessary to go down with Mr. Mitchell to see him through his trial, trusting the case in the hands of a local attorney. Mr. Mitchell himself treated the matter with contempt, almost, and does not seem to have taken any precaution against a verdict of guilty.

Mr. James Gay, an intelligent and upright young farmer of the Grassy Lick neighborhood and Miss Alice Johnson, were married in Lexington, on the evening of January 31, and went to Covington to spend a few days with friends of the bride. They are at home now at the A. W. Stoer place, where they will make their home the coming year. The bride is the lovely daughter of Mr. Joseph Johnson, of Sideview. She has been one of the most successful teachers in the county, and will make the man who has secured her for a wife, a happy after her order God intended the woman should be to the man.

All Stuck.

Out of the entire panel of 24 jurors summoned to serve at the present term of the Montgomery Circuit Court not one failed to report for duty, not one asked to be excused and everyone of the 24 served the entire four weeks. This is something unheard of in the history of the County. Never before has such a thing happened in the memory of any Court attach or law officer at the bar.

The Fayette county primary held Thursday resulted in the following receiving the Democratic nomination:

For County Judge—Frank A. Bullock.

For Sheriff—Edward Gross. For County Clerk—Clarence Chinon. For Jailer—Wm. E. Wilkerson. For Surveyor—Wm. A. Newman. For Assessor—R. M. Redd. For Coroner—Dr. P. Molloy.

A brand new Democrat arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Gaines this morning. He is a jolly looking boy and is ready to vote the Democratic ticket twenty-one years hence—Girard (Kan.) Daily World, February 3.

Ben, the boy at your old home extend to you the heartiest congratulations.

The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville will contest the right of the city to collect taxes on its property, claiming exemption under its charter and under the provisions of the Kentucky Constitution.

We Knew This Long Ago.

The following complimentary reference to our friend John P. Salter we take from the Louisville Post: There is something in the free air of Switzerland that occasionally brings out the orator and statesman even in an unlettered mountaineer. But of late years the State has been honored with some representatives from that section who bring these natural endowments upon a basis of higher education and greater social refinement. John P. Salter, now a member of the Senate, is one of these. In many respects he is the intellectual superior of Moore, Martin Taubee and others of modern note from that section. He is a bright clear lawyer and is rapidly pushing his way to national distinction. The western and central portions of the State, where the rich lands lie, have always been productive of the better class of lawyers, orators and statesmen but Switzerland is coming to the front and they must look to their laurels now.

Next Monday will be County Court Day, and we will be glad to have our friends honor us with a call. Many came in last Court and we will be glad to see all again next Monday. By the way, we have a "World's Almanac and Encyclopedia" for every subscriber who pays up all arrears and a year in advance.

THE UNELECTED INFANT.

An unselected infant sighed out its little breath.
And wandered through the darkness, along the shores of death.
Unto the gates of heaven aghast with pearl's attire,
And ran to them, and crying, and would not be denied.
Though fallen from earth rose mutterings, "You can't enter me."
Depart into Gehenna; for child of wrath and sin.
At first the gates were opened. A man with features mild.
Stooped down and reached out the weeping, unselected child.
Inmost life thrilled down the avenues of bliss,
And on the infant's forehead the spirit placed a kiss.
"Who are you thus to hallo my unselected how?"
"Dear child, my name was Calvin, but I see things different now." —New York Sun.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Slight frosts make the oranges sweater.

It pays to consider mutton first and wool afterwards.

Wheat is an excellent concentrated food for all live stock.

The cross of Dorset rams upon grade Merino ewes is an excellent one.

The average farmer does too much manual and too little brain work.

The successful dairymen must have dairy cow, and give her daily care.

A boar should be tractable, but possessed of abundant life and activity.

Among pears the Seckle is the most liable to the injured by over bearing.

The Devons were probably among the earliest breeds raised in England.

This is the time to crowd the thrifty pigs weighing 150 pounds for market.

House plants should be put in small pots, for flowers, and in large ones for foliage.

The national meat inspection laws have been a failure, and ought to be repealed.

The tendency nowadays is to increase the production of the farm rather than its acreage.

The more grain calves, colts, lambs and pigs are able to eat for a month before weaning the better.

The wheat in India for 1894 is 6 per cent. greater than in 1893. The indications are favorable for a good crop.

One million acres of oats were sown in Scotland last year, and 280,000 acres devoted to the production of other cereals.

After a hog has passed 250 pounds it is very doubtful if the average feeder can put another ounce on him with any profit.

Since the middle of September 25,000 boxes of Florida oranges have been sent abroad with generally satisfactory results.

The Province of Ontario has 7,000,000 bearing apple trees, 2,000,000 grape vines, 700,000 plum trees, and 600,000 each of cherry, pear and peach trees.

Over ninety-three million pounds of licorice root were imported into this country during the year. Why can not we raise it for our own market at least?

Do not let the cows run down now which are to calve in the spring. It is mistaken economy to permit them to run down because they are not giving any milk.

Two grass-fed bullocks, recently exhibited at a cattle show in New South Wales, Australia, weighed respectively 2,284 and 2,178 pounds. They were fattened wholly on natural pasture.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known as to need no special mention.

All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—A pure medicine does not exist, and is guaranteed to do all that is claimed.

Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the liver and kidneys, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheum and other afflictions caused by impure blood.

Will drive malarias from the system and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers.—For cure of headache, constipation and indigestion try Electric Bitters—entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

Endurance of the Horse.

The endurance of the horse has been recently subjected to a series of experiments in France, from which it would appear that a horse will live on water alone for twenty-five days, seventeen days without eating or drinking, only five days if fed but insufficiently watered. A horse kept without water for three days drank 104 pounds in three minutes.

It was found, too, that a horse taken immediately from "fed" and kept in the active exercise of the "squadron school" completely digested its food in three hours; in the same time in the "non-crisps" school" food was two thirds digested, and it kept perfectly quiet in the stable. Digestion was scarcely commenced in three hours.

Missing Word Contest.

Supply the missing word in the following sentence:

"In society the all absorbing topic in England during the quarter was the Prince of Wales and the ——."

One-fourth of the net subscription receipts of those entering the contest will be divided among those who supply the correct word in the blank in the above sentence. Thus, if there are $5,000, one-fourth would be $1,250. If ten supply the correct word each would receive $125, if 100, each $12.50 etc.

Both of the above contests free and in addition to Two Papers for about the price

The Weekly Constitution has a circulation of 156,000, and is the people's paper. It favors Tariff Reform, an individual income tax, and the expansion of the currency to a degree sufficient to meet the legitimate business demands of the country.

It covers the news of the world every week, having news correspondents in all the news centres of the world.

Take your home paper, THE ADVOCATE, and The Constitution. Two for only $1.25, both new subscribers. Renewals to THE ADVOCATE and The Constitution for $1.50.

HORSE NOTES.

An occasional oiling will prevent cracks and breaks in the harness.

The day of hay-wintered colts started in the barnyard has gone by.

Take the chill from the water given to the brood mares in cold weather.

The proper development of the colts is a business which few understand.

In the half-bred hackney the breeder has a grand type of general utility horse.

One good horse means profit and pleasure; a dozen ordinary ones mean loss and disappointment.

Good looks go a long way towards a desirable price, and the greatest source of good looks is care.

The care and keep of the colts from infancy to selling age affect their value more than most breeders realize.

There is a large surplus of horses in the country, but they are of the kind horse-breeders do not want to invest in.

A perfect horse cannot be bred from an imperfect one, or a high-class one from a mare or sires possessed of prominent faults and imperfections.

A breeder who wishes to succeed should breed only the best to the best, and take care of both pedigree and individuality as he proceeds.

Don't expect to have good strong yearlings and two-year-olds when spring comes unless you feed plenty of clean, wholesome food during the winter.

The man who breeds horses intelligently, breaks them carefully, teaches them thoroughly and develops their speed will always find a profit in the business.

There is a demand for thoroughbred stallions for Canada. The stallions are required to have plenty of substance and weight to cross with Canadian mares.

Mrs Peter Cooper's Furniture.

It is said that when Mrs. Peter Cooper, (the wife of the founder of the Cooper Institute in New York) first went to housekeeping every piece of furniture was made by her husband with his own hands. Even the bedroom and parlor "sets" were the handiwork of her ingenious husband.

That Sinking Feeling.

A Detroit doctor is laying for a boy about eighteen years old, who came to his office one day last week, and after getting his advice, disappeared and has not since been seen, at least by him.

"Doctor," said the boy, "I have a sinking feeling all over, a great many times."

"Ever at night?" asked the doctor.

"Hardly ever."

"Let me see your tongue."

The boy showed him his tongue; the doctor felt his pulse, sounded his chest, worked a stethoscope on him, listened to his heart-beats, and then told him what was the matter with him, and what to take for it.

"Maybe my business has got something to do with it, doctor," suggested the boy, as the physician stepped into the adjoining room to get a phial.

"Hardly that, I think," cheerfully sung out the physician from the other room.

"What is your business?"

"I run an elevator," responded the lad, and before the doctor could get to him he had disappeared, as above stated.—Detroit Free Press.

It is very seldom that a watch will be affected when worn in an electric car, because the electrical current does not come in close proximity to the wearer, or both might feel its effects. Nonmagnetized watches only could be affected. These watches, which are largely in the majority, are supplied with works of fine steel, which are not easily brought to bear on it finds its center of attraction in the roller and lever or pole of the watch. The roller is the small steel disk which fits directly under the balance wheel. On that disk are two tiny posts which fit in the ends of the pole of the watch. The pole is the flat piece of steel which moves back and forth with the reversible motion of the balance wheel. The pole attracts the electric current. A magnet or loadstone held over it will give a good illustration. Watches are manufactured which are proof against such currents. They are magnetized. That is done by substituting a composition pole and roller.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Pink of Pearls.

Dr. Hughson Meriden received a letter from R. W. Sawyer of Nassau, New Providence, one of the Bahama Islands, telling of the finding of a pink pearl in a conch shell there that is the finest ever brought to light. The pearl is nearly as large as a pigeon's egg and of the same shape, having no flaw or blemish, and of perfect color and lustre. It was sold to the local agent of a New York house for $400, or over $2,000, the large price, it is believed, received for a pearl at the Nassau conch fisheries.—Hartford Times.

His Consultation.

There was a backward student at Balliol who, for failure to pass an examination in Greek, was "sent down." His mother went to see the master, Dr. Jowett, and explained to him what an excellent lad her son was.

"It is a hard experience for him to fail," said the old lady, "but he will have to come to you again, and there is always one book to which he can turn." Jowett eyed her a moment and then answered, "Yes, madam—the Greek grammar. Good morning."—San Francisco Argonaut.

The Forum

"The Greatest of all our Periodicals."

The foremost men of the world write the literature of contemporaneous activity for THE FORUM.

Every great subject is taken up by The Forum when it naturally comes into general attention and is treated by the best authorities, without regard to partisanship or creeds. It can tell any reader informed on the tasks and problems of the times, as all other periodicals do.

To many thoughtful people, the price of The Forum has hitherto been prohibitory; indeed all the great Reviews have been too high in price for the masses of intelligent readers. But now the number of readers of thoughtful literature is increasing rapidly, and it is to know what is going on in the world outside the narrow limits of particular parties or nations—is an encouragement to the United States to warrant, so revolutionary a reduction in price. The Forum discusses important subjects, but it is not dull. The literature of contemporaneous activity is in fact the literature of the world. American citizenship implies that a man shall know the opinions of the foremost men and the latest great achievements in every direction of activity.

How to Buy a Horse.

No sensible man will buy a horse of any value or one which he expects to do good service without first submitting it to a qualified veterinary surgeon, says the London Live Stock Journal. Many an unprofessional man has a good eye for a horse, but he knows little or nothing of its structure and anatomy, compared with the trained veterinarian.

Moreover, the amateur judge of a horse is apt to fly to certain points where he feels he may detect something, and overlook others.

The veterinary surgeon, who is examining horses almost every day, not only brings his scientific knowledge to bear but conducts his examination in a systematic manner, going all over the horse before he has done with him.

If there be manifest unsoundness, it will be discovered and pointed out, but it is in the discovery and indication of incidental unsoundness that the training and practice of the veterinarian are of value.

Barns For Rent.

I desire to rent on liberal terms for the season of 1894, the barns at Fair Grounds track, with track privileges. These barns are well built, with hydrants or cisterns. The track is first class and never gets hard, making it one of the best ones in the country for training purposes.

Or, will sell 100 acres of land including track and barns.

Michigan produces one-fifth of the iron of this country, mining 9,000,000 tons a year. The copper mines are the richest in the world, having produced over $200,000,000 worth of metal.

The signs of the times point, in the opinion of the Electric Review, to renewed activity in electrical circles' Improvement and extension of electric lighting plants and installation of new electric railway are leading features in this movement.

In Cold Weather.

First—Don't let your horse stand very long out in the cold while you are inside warming yourself.

Second—Don't let him stand at all without placing a blanket over him.

Third—Don't hitch him to an iron post or railing when the mercury is below freezing. He needs the skin on his tongue.

Fourth—Don't keep the stable dark, for when he goes into the light his eyes are injured, especially if snow is on the ground.

Fifth—Don't make your horse drink ice-cold water nor put a frosty bit in his mouth. Warm the bit by holding it over a lighted candle.

Sixth—Don't nail to keep your horse well shod. It is cheaper than to pay veterinarian's bills.

Seventh—Don't forget to see that the barn is put in a comfortable condition for the winter.

Eighth—Don't run your horse down a hill, especially when snow and ice are on the ground. He is liable to fall and break your neck.

Ninth—Don't fail to see that the harness will cause sores.

Tenth—Don't fail to keep plenty of good clean straw in the stall at night.

Eleventh—Don't fail to give your horse a good rubbing down each evening, especially if he is hauled, and then blanket him.—The Human World.

The senate committee on Revenue and Taxation of the Kentucky General Assembly Tuesday decided to report favorably a substitute for the House bill abolishing the State Board of Equalization. According to the substitute the board is to meet only once in five years, is to have no jurisdiction over personal property, and jurisdiction over real estate is to be limited to the State tax, which is now forty-two and one-half cent.

Dr. William C. Braislain shows that in negroes the nasal canals are wider, shorter and less deep, than in other races, and thereby less protection is afforded the lungs. The author believes that the African nose, being adapted to a tropical climate, is not suited for the colder climates, and that in this lies the greater susceptibility of the negro to consumption and other diseases depending upon irritant qualities in the atmosphere.

It has been decided by the Democratic members of the Senate Finance Committee not to waste time by tariff hearings, and Chairman Voorhees Tuesday gave out a statement explaining the committee's determination. He says very forcefully that the people are heard through their representatives in Congress, and a moment consideration will show how ample and sufficient such hearings have been and will always continue to be.

Scientists affirm that red hair means an abundance of iron in the blood. And the analyst says that it is the matter that enters the red hair that imparts vigor, the elasticity, the great vitality, the overflowing, thoroughly healthy animal life which runs through the veins of the ruddy haired, and this strong, sentient animal life is what renders them more intense in their emotions than their more languid fellow creatures. Philosophers notice it as a peculiar fact that red-haired old maids are very rare.

TUESDAY, FEB. 13, 1894.

A Solid South.

Every Republican paper in the country, from one of the great dailies to the little 8x10 sheet at the cross roads, have been howling out the awful deluge of disasters that are to come upon the country as the result of the repeal of the Federal Election law; and now every one of them are gleefully quoting Senator Palmer's prophecy, that one of the first results of the repeal of the relic of Reconstruction days will be the early disintegration of the solid South. The Senator is quoted as saying "in six months there will be no such thing as a solid South." So long as there is a negro question to settle and so long as there are a set of malignant meddlers in the North, who want to solve that question for us, in their own way, there will be a solid South. But the babe, yet unborn, will be gray headed and palsied with age, and still the solid South will present the same unbroken stone-wall—face which way she may. The prophet who can look far enough into the future to see the solution of this negro question—the most momentous any free people ever were called upon to work out—can probably see the beginning of the end of the solid South.

The Mt. Sterling Advocate in its wide denunciation of the Louisville Trust Companies seems to confound trust companies with "trusts."—Courier Journal.

The Mt. Sterling ADVOCATE has not confounded the Louisville "Trust Companies with Trusts." Such an object lesson as "the Mt. Sterling ADVOCATE's" home county is now receiving, were the object lesson on exhibition in Louisville, would enable even a Courier-Journal scribe to distinguish between a Trust Company and a "Trust." Does the Courier-Journal mean to imply that we are so dull of apprehension as to "confound" highway robbery with petit larceny? Our information is that the personnel of the Courier-Journal has a very personal knowledge of what a Louisville Trust Company actually and truly is. The Courier-Journal cannot tamely tolerate anything that even remotely reflects on any of Louisville's interests, and do you know we rather like the old C.J., for its very touchiness along this line.

But let us tell you, Mr. Courier-Journal man, we don't want any more experience with your trust companies. One time monkeying with such a buzz-saw is all the experience we need in that direction; and any other county that tries it will "holler, huff," as soon and as woofersously, as we have done.

The Democrats in Congress have kept faith with the people in one more important particular, though they have been a little slow about it. The House bill repealing the Federal Election Law was passed by the Senate Wednesday. The frantic efforts of Republican Senators to amend the bill, were over and all rejected. The final vote stood 39 to 28; Stewart (Rep.) and Kyle, Peppin and Allen, Poplars, voting with the Democrats. Farewell, Johnny Davenport! There's nothing left for you to do.

Senator Vourhees arose in the Senate and said Thursday afternoon: My President, as Yesterday was Ash Wednesday, and to-morrow will be Good Friday, I move that the Senate adjourn until Monday. The Senate immediately adjourned. When it found itself in an adjourned condition, it suddenly dawned upon the minds of several of the statesmen that to-morrow was a long way off from Good Friday, but it was too late to rectify the mistake, so the Senate stands adjourned until Monday.

Constituent W. L. Wilson is sick at Kansas City, where it is likely he will be detained some time. Yesterday's reports making him more seriously ill than was at first supposed.

Secretary Carlisle estimates that an appropriation of $2,367,855 will be required to carry the departments through this fiscal year.

The Wilson Bill in Georgia.

Marietta Journal: The democrats in congress are "doing something" now, and they are doing it well. The passage of the Wilson tariff bill and the income tax measure shows that the democrats are realizing their responsibility and will do their duty.

Covington Enterprise: It is a straight cut democratic measure on the very line promised the people in the party platform. The bill is now before the senate and it is hoped that every democrat in that body will push it to a speedy passage.

Thomasville Times: It is a matter of pride with Georgians that every member from the Empire State of the South voted "aye" when the tariff bill was put on its passage. Well done, gentlemen, you performed your duty well.

Telbotton New Era: We say hurrah for the Democratic congressmen. Democracy sent them a pass to such a tariff bill, and they have done it. And not only this, but other good laws will be passed that the necessities of the people demand. And not only this, but every evil law that would be for harm to the people they will refuse to pass.

Decatur Record: While the bill was altogether unsatisfactory to the republicans, and not altogether satisfactory to many democrats, it was doubtless the best that could be done under the circumstances. It is gratifying that while a number of democrats voted against the income tax amendment, most of them voted for the bill on its final passage.

Election Bill Echoes.

After to-day the Force Bill will be numbered among the things that were,

and so will little Johnny Davenport, the bill repealing the Federal election laws having been signed by the President this afternoon.

Davenport methods as a Federal supervisor have been very offensive to the good citizens of New York. Aided by a board of hirelings, in practically controlled every election district in the city in a presidential election, he arrested citizens on the flimsiest of charges and cast them into a big iron cage in the Federal building, keeping them there until after the polls were closed, thus depriving them of their votes. For many years Davenport was authorized by Republican Administrations and permitted by sufferance when Democrats controlled the Government to make his headquarters in the Federal building. When Postmaster Dayton was appointed custodian of the building last year he forced Davenport out. When, in June, 1892, the sub-committee of the Senate Immigration Committee examined Davenport, he admitted having received in fees as Chief Supervisor "about $125,000" in the ten years previous, besides other fees as United States Commissioner. He admitted to this committee also that he drafted the Force Bill. Davenport was created Supervisor of Elections in 1872, and he proceeded to exercise authority in a high-handed way in the presidential election of that year, exercising simultaneously the dual functions of Supervisor and United States Commissioner. He had Democrats taken from their homes and families at all hours of day and night and incarcerated in Ludlow-streets jail to await his pleasure. He held court in many places, sometimes in the Fifth-avenue Hotel, at other times in the then United States Court-house at 41 Chambers street, surrounded by guards. But his days of bulldozing and tyranny are over.

* * *

Ex-Gov. P. H. Leslie, of Kentucky was at the Treasury Department to day and had interviews with Secretary Carlisle. The Gov. is an applicant for United States District Attorney of Montana. He is splendidly endorsed, and his chances for appointment are considered first-class. He is anxious to secure the influence of Secretary Carlisle. His talk with the Secretary to-day was on that subject. —Washington to Courier-Journal Feb. 8.

Quotes Scripture For It.

Rev. Phoebe Hannaford, one of the Sorosis of New York, stoutly declares that man should be the dishwasher of the family. And there is nothing slow about Phoebe when it comes to argumentation. She quotes the Scriptures to prove her position, turning to: "And they spread a line over Samaria, and wiped out Jerusalem as a man wipes a dish, turning it upside down." —Cincinnati Post.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C. 12.
The President put his signature to the bill repealing the Force Bill Thursday evening, and it is now the law of the land that there shall be no more Davenports at elections. Representative Pearson, of Ohio, Chairman of the committee on enrolled bills, carried the bill from the Capitol to the White House and placed it before President Cleveland. Representative Tucker, of Virginia, was present with a gold pen purchased specially for use in signing the bill. It had already been used for that purpose by Vice President Stevenson, and Speaker Crisp, and after the President had used it to attach his signature to the bill, and thus complete the transaction, the pen became the personal property of Representative Tucker. The President departed from his usual custom in approving this bill without securing a report thereon by the Attorney General, to whose department it belonged, and also without himself making a personal study of its provisions. The President never acts hastily on Congressional measures, and usually takes the full constitutional limit of ten days for those considerations. But in signing this bill he knew that he was restoring the great American liberties to the people of this country, and wiping from the statute books a law which was not only a menace, but a disgrace to the American people.

The dead—G. O. P.
Force Bill given up as dead.—Robber Tariff.

"And the Gazette favors the Force Bill."

o o o

The Senate adjourned Thursday until Monday in order that the Democrats of the Finance Committee might have an opportunity to consider the Tariff Bill. The purpose of the Senate is to dispose of the bill as soon as possible, and it is thought now that the bill will be voted upon during the first week in March. It is said that the duty on sugar will be restored, and in restoring the duty, too, at the same time a thrust at the sugar trusts. They propose to reverse things and place a duty of 2¢ cents per pound on raw sugar and 1 cent on refined sugar. This being a revenue duty, it will give no sort of comfort to the trusts. The bill otherwise will not, it is thought, be materially changed, but will remain the same Wilson Bill as when it passed the House.

o o o

Representative Lisle has been getting in some good work for his district. He presented quite a large batch of bills Thursday. He is doing some valiant work for the old Tenth.

o o o

The Hawaiian debate continues in the Senate, and will probably continue until the Tariff Bill is presented.

o o o

It is thought that there will soon be a new printing office bill, passed, but it will not come before it is needed, for the printing office as it is now is a regular death trap, and unless there is something done soon there will be a worse disaster than then old Ford's Theater. The Government is amply able to provide safe buildings for its employees, and there is no reason why it should not. But the law factory of our country is the slowest machinery we have. I suppose all the work turned out, though, is hand-made and warranted not to rip, is the reason they are so slow. The President is also slow. His work must be hand-carved. He has been in office now on to a year, and some of the best offices at his disposal are held by the rascals. Turn the buggers out in the cold while, and let them hustle for themselves. Then they will know what hard times are. There are lots of good worthy Democrats with their mouths open waiting for the loaves and fishes. Why turn them out from their own home? Give them a chance and they will

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

The old style pills! Who does not know what agony they caused—what was I? You walked the floor, you groaned, you And felt such awful pain inside!

And the next day you felt so weak. You didn't want to move or speak. Now Pierce's "Pills" are so mild. They are not dredged by a child.

They do their work in a new way.

And they are no longer painful.

Thus proving what is oft' cont'd, That gentle means are always best.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are unequalled as a Liver Pill. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. One tiny, sugar-coated pellet a dose. Representative Harter (Dem.) of Ohio, made a speech in the Nations House on Friday, in opposition to the Bland-Schlengen Bill. He advocated more rigid economy upon the part of the Government, and suggested that the salaries of all Federal officers receiving over $2,500 per annum be lowered 25 percent. He also favored an increase in the tax on whisky, a tax on beer, and thought that a small tax on coffee and tea would yield a large revenue.

Six points, out of many, where Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take—little sugar-coated granules that every child takes readily.

2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.

3. Their effects 1st. There's no reaction afterward. They regulate or cleanse the system, according to size of dose.

4. They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

5. Put up in glass—are always fresh.

6. They're constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick or bilious headaches, dizziness, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Miss Madeline Pollard and her attorney, Messrs. Carlisle and Mallon, of Washington, and Col. Breckinridge attorneys, Messrs. C. H. Stoll and Sharon Brocklinridge, of Lexington, Ky., met at Cincinnati Friday, and had a lengthy and secret conference. They were probably engaged in taking depositions to be used in the coming trial. The case will probably come up for trial next month.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, Oa., states that he has been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, cough and colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, however, he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have throat, lung or chest trouble my, it We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at W. S. Lloyd's drugstore.

Bob Marler was hanged at Pineville Friday for the murder of Mrs. Mary E. Bowden, August last. Marler mistook railroad conductor, John Chapman, for one Long, a lumberman, with whom his brother had had some misunderstanding over a settlement. Bob Marler fired at Chapman and missed him, fatally wounded Mrs. Bowden, a lady who kept a miners' lodging house, and who was exceedingly popular with those with whom she mingled. Upon Marler's arrest he made strenuous efforts to save the law a bit of a "tug," but were outwitted by the Sheriff.

Mrs. Annie Honness is at the Racket Store on South Maysville St. She accepted a position as saleslady there last Saturday.

W. M. Kendall, of West Liberty, was in the city last week enroute from the river where he had been with logs. Market fairly good.

Misses Marguerette Martin and Berlie Combs, two charming young ladies of Lexington, are the guest of Misses Fisher and Ora Green this week.

Mrs. B. W. Trimble is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas McDowell in Winchester.

Mr. Cyrus Turner, of Frankfort spent Sunday and Monday with family in the city.

To-morrow is St. Valentine's day, boys, girls and all quaint characters are axious.

Misses Bettie and Mattie Hedden of Shelby county, are visiting their brothers family J. W. Bedden on Wm Street.

George E. Gill, a prominent insurance man of Chicago, is visiting his sisters Mrs. John O. Miller and Mrs. A. Hoffman in the city.

Rev. J. W. Wills, of Richmond, was in the city Monday and went to Farmers where he will preach every night this week except Sunday night.

Mr. James H. Wood accompanied C. H. Duty to his home in Flemingsburg last week. Mr. Wood reported Mr. Duty to have stood the trip with out experiencing bad effects.

J. C. Orear and wife, Ed. C. Orear and Claude Hazelrig have gone to Umatilla, Florida. Messrs. Orear and Hazelrig took their fishing tackle with them and expect to present the editors of the Advocate with some nice ones. They will be about about three weeks.

Gen. Gordon's Lecture.

Gen. John B. Gordon will deliver his famous lecture "The Last Days of the Confederacy" at Lexington on Thursday night. In commenting on this lecture a leading paper says: "That lecture is a sensation. It is no part-spoken, but comes from a great, loving, loyal heart, a heart which knows how to accept the result with grace and how to renew its loyalty to the flag of the Union with increased devotion." Any of our people who desire to go to hear the great lecture should let Mr. Claude Paxton know of the fact and if a number will indicate that they desire to attend, we know our accomodating railroad Agent will see that they get rates. Let your intentions known at once and Claude Paxton will see that you are provided for.

Tortured By Robbers.

On Leatherwood Creek, Cumber-

land county, Ky. Thursday night, robbers were guilty of a most horrible brutality. Three men entered the home of James Clayton, who does not believe in banks, and, after gaging

the family, proceeded to compel him to tell where his money was hidden.

They fired pistols close to his head, choked him, turned him with his stones and finally stuck his feet in the fire, holding them there until they burst to a crisp. This finally conquered Clayton, who told where the money was. The robbers got $1,800 and then escaped on three of Clayton's horses. Clayton will probably die.

New Toll Law.

Under the new road law enacted by the last Legislature the rates on all turnpike and gravel roads were fixed as follows: The rates on all loose stock and vehicles drawn by one horse remain the same, but the rate for a wagon drawn by two horses is fixed at 20 cents each way if loaded and 10 cents when not loaded. Pleasure carriages with two horses 25 cents each way; when drawn by four horses 30 cents. Three horse wagon 30 cents four horse wagon 40 cents, five horse wagon 60 cents. The rates are reduced for neighborhood travel below

these rates. Turnpike companies should take notice of these charges and the rate card conform to them or they may incur the penalty of the law.

The fine for each offense is $10 for the keeper and $50 for the company.

No Pay, No Preach.

"The Prowler" writes this story for the Winchester Democrat. He has been rascinating in the southwestern part of the State for several days, and learned of a peculiar custom that obtains in regard to "paying the preacher" that it would possibly be well to adopt in other communities, where, as it is well known, much difficulty is occasionally experienced in raising the necessary funds to pay the humble servants who labor so faithfully in God's vineyard. It is an unwritten law among the preachers of that section that the tithe amount of money agreed upon be handed them before the hour of service each Sunday that they preach, and unless the sum is forthcoming no service will be held. Hence there is no missing of appointments by the preachers on account of the tithes paid on account of excuse when people are remiss in paying their subscriptions, and the people are also aware that if there is no money there will also be no preaching. There is one preacher in the district who is so firm in his demands that the people of his church have added "C. O. D." after his title of D. D., and by this euphonious name he is known throughout that section of the State.

Mrs. Olivia, wife of A. W. Plank, died at her home in this county Wednesday, the 7th inst., from child-bed fever, aged 26 years. She had been a member of the Baptist church for 12 months. Her funeral was preached by Dr. Fisher, of Louisville, and her remains were buried in Machpelah cemetery. She leaves a husband, a three-weeks-old girl baby, together with father, mother, brothers and sisters, to mourn her loss and praise God for her goodness on the earth.

Her Christian life was beautiful and her death triumphant. She knew she must die, and, like many good Christians, preferred being with God to this life of troubles. Her last moments were given to dying admittions. She wanted to meet her dear ones in Heaven, and to them she gave a parting word: "Take care of my little babe, mother, and bring it when you come. Everything about me is so bright. I am going and would not return for the world. Of course I will meet my brother, A. L. Hackett; and you, General Williams, good-bye! I want to meet you in Heaven!" With these words she passed into the bright beyond.

MT. STERLING ADVOCATE, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1894.

A HOTTENTOT FABLE.

The Lion once was ill, "tis said,
And when the news had widely spread
All animals of fowl or wing
Came on to visit him and sing.
But one who knew the lion's woes—
The cunning Jackal—wouldn't go,
Because he said, "I'm not afraid
The tricks which went did not return."
So him the Hyena accused
And told the Lion he refused
Alms to the poor and sick,
To feel his lordship's suffering.

Then said the Lion: "If 't is so,
I wish, my friend, that you would go,
And bring me some good meat,
Bring the hard hearted Jackal here."

When this the Hyena done,
The Lion to his guest began:
"Now, what, who will you will,
Did you know off 'twas still with?"

"I did not, unkin, on my word,
For when your sore distress I heard,
Unto the doctor swifly flew,
To see if there was no help for you;
Besides, I did not go in vain—
How could I, when your pain,
He says to this Hyena's self,
And when 't off get quickly in;
But when I come to you, I say, so,
For this Hyena is your foe."

Then jumped the Lion in a trice
To take the Jackal's shrewd advice,
And with a bound he sprang and leaped,
In his warn folds equipped.
The Jackal ran with all his might,
And very son was out of sight.

EARY CIVILIZATION.

Light Thrown Upon the Manners and Customs of 3,400 Years Ago.

We have become possessed of certain very important indications as to the early civilization of Palestine by means of clay tablets. Now that the king of Sodom is also a well-known name, it is fitting that which has deduced from yet earlier Egyptian records. It is well known to scholars that Thothmes III, when he defeated the league of Hittites and the Phoenicians at Megiddo, in 1600 B.C. (a century before Amasis), II, succeeded, reaped a spelt which indicated an advanced civilization of Syria, including not only the precious metals and charms painted and plated, but also objects of art having a high aesthetic value, and that he found corn, wine and oil abundant in the country and many hundreds of walled towns in which there were already temples of the gods.

Such evidence has, however, been slighted by those who regard the early Hebrews as savages, and who think that though placed in the very center of the ancient civilized world, between the Egyptians and the Assyrians, they nevertheless remained ignorant with regard to man and unfurnished by surrounding culture. The new discoveries insist on quite another understanding of their ancient history.

It is surely a lesson of humility that the modern student should learn from such discoveries. Voltaire was once a writer of great originality and soundness, and from our present standpoint wonderfully ignorant of antiquity. He finds it hard to believe that Homer's poems could have been written down before 500 B.C. and asserts that papyrus had not been invented in Egypt in the time of Moses, though we now possess numerous specimens of a manuscript as old as the pyramids.

We find, on the contrary, that not only in Egypt or in Mesopotamia was the art of writing known in the time of Moses, but that the inhabitants of Palestine also could pen a brick epistle, which in the space of a few inches contained as much information as a page of the most elaborate sheet of note paper. Such letters were neither heavy nor bulky and could be carried in the turban or in the folds of the shirt bosom just as easily as paper letters are now so carried, with the additional advantage that they were imperishable, as is witnessed by the fact that they are now being read 3,400 years after they were written.—Edinburgh Review.

Finger Nails.

The finger nails are so influenced by the employment of the person that they are but unreliable indices. A rare, however, those which are short and broad indicate a tendency to criticism, and a desire to express one's opinion to argue with love of power. There may also be a tendency to mendaciousness, and the subject is perhaps hasty and easily worried. Women with short nails are as a rule—

The good and bad short nail are signs of intellect and wisdom, and to grasp a situation, with an abounding sense of tact, and if the hand be good in all other respects, the bad qualities will be "toned down" and little will remain of their characteristics save gentle sarcasm and a tendency to good natured irony. Long, curved nails are signs of prudery and careful disposition, but if simply curved and delicate they indicate only delicacy of mind and fine firmness of character.—Boston Herald.

Paris' Oetric Duty.

The odd dress so familiar to all in Paris, is in import, precisely similar in principle and practice to the customs duty paid on goods entering a foreign country. You go out of Paris for the day to visit a friend who has a charming garden in the suburbs, and he hospitably loads you on your departure with new potatoes, onions, and other delicacies. When you reach Paris there is whether you arrive by rail or road, a functionary who wants to know "what you've got there," and unless it be of very trifling sort you will have to pay a percentage of its estimated value.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Gassing After Death.

A humorist in Japan who jested all his life told his friends when he was dying that his body was not to be washed after death, but was to be taken at once to the family temple to be buried. His friends, however, his instructions were followed—so soon as it was set on fire the mourners were astonished by several loud explosions. At first they were inclined to put them to their heels, but curiosity got the better of fear, and careful inspection showed that the humorist had stowed away a large number of firecrackers about his person before his death.—Toronto Mail.

Spectrized Wood.

Spectrized wood, by the green and blue and violet blaze of which you can sit and talk in the twilight and never realize you dream. An obscure policeman weary reading the law books while he waited for the known lawbook writer of the world to go to his office for his fees, a young man a year's income of $25,000 from his books. Where the Comparison Ends.
The career of Seymour D. Thompson, ex-senator of Connecticut, appeals, reads like a romance. Twenty-five years ago he was an obscure policeman weary reading the law books while he waited for the known lawbook writer of the world to go to his office for his fees, a young man a year's income of $25,000 from his books. The author of "Aunt Jemima" and "Amelia Thompson's Law Texts" are a familiar sight on every prominent lawyer's table.—St Louis Post-Dispatch.

Here's to you, Brother Thompson! We surely tread the streets of Boston, and we have written some books, but there the comparison ends. The $25,000 yearly income has been diverted to another channel. We wondered where it had gone and are glad to find it in such worthy

Green Bag.

Artificial Humidity.

The introduction of an artificial humidity into the atmosphere is not new, and was first made by the injection of steam into the air. But one who knew the lion's woes—The cunning Jackal—wouldn't go, because he said, "I'm not afraid." The tricks which went did not return. So him the Hyena accused And told the Lion he refused Alms to the poor and sick, To feel his lordship's suffering.

Then said the Lion: "If 't is so, I wish, my friend, that you would go, and if I can't get you to do it, then, bring the hard hearted Jackal here."

Other Facts About Money.

There are 119,900 old copper pennies somewhere. Nobody knows what has become of them, except that once in awhile a single specimen turns up in change. A few years ago 4,500,000 bronze 2 cent pieces were set afoul. Three millions of these are still outstanding. The million dollars lost is scattered over the United States, but it is very rarely that one is seen. Of 800,000 half cents, which correspond in value to English farthings, not one has been returned to the government for recognition or is held by the treasury.

Interest on Congress appropriates from $100,000 to $150,000 yearly for recovering the uncurrent silver coins now in possession of the treasury. These are mostly half dollars and are not circulated because there is no demand for them. Not long ago the stock of them amounted to $25,000,000, but it is only about half that amount left. The interest exacted for coining is not intended to pay for the cost of minting, but is required to reimburse the treasury of the United States on account of the loss in weight which the silver pieces have suffered by abrasion. This loss amounts to $30 on every $1,000, and it has to be made good in order to set the treasurer's account straight.—Boston Transcript.

Russia's Choice Soldiers.

There is a certain army corps not familiar in Russia and unknown even in military circles out of Russia. They are called the corps de chasseurs a cheval, a division of Russian soldiers, numbering 64 to each regiment. They are picked men, chosen for various reasons, and include not only the men of best education, but also the best runners, sharpshooters, fencers, swimmers, climbers, sappers, fishermen and lumbermen.

The corps under strict discipline of their own, but they are not obliged to march in line, are free from barracks service and are excused sentinel duty, so that they may be called at any moment to the extraordinary service for which they are trained.

As pioneers they build across the broadest and fastest rivers of Russia, and have a way of crossing them with a horse and saddle, which they provide the army with game and fish. During long marches they are hunters of the wolf, the bear and the tiger. In the military districts of Vilna, Warsaw and Kief—that is, along the frontier of Austria and Germany—the number of chasseurs is 6,556. The corps de chasseurs of the regiments in Minsk and Mohilev are considered the best in the army.

An Extraordinary Carpet.

The South Kensington museum, London, assisted by a number of amateurs, wrought a splendid carpet, made in 1325, for the year 1500. It is 34 feet long and 174 feet broad. All was done slowly by hand, the design and filling being produced by the accumulation of knots, of which it is reckoned there are 33,000,000 in the whole piece.

The design shows a large central medallion in pale yellow, with cartouches of different colors disposed about it. In each corner is a section of a medallion like the one in the center, with its attendant cartouches. On the broad border are long and circular panels alternating and floral tracery relieved against a brown ground. The knot at the top is a Persian inscription, translated:

"I have no refuge in the world other than thy threshold. My head has no protection other than this porchway. The work of the slave of the Holy Place, Maksoud of Kashan, in the year 942."—Carpet Trade Review.

The Ceasar's Double.

Every one in Copenhagen has heard of the double-headed eagle of the czar of Carlsbad. He so strongly resembles the czar as to be frequently mistaken for him. This flattered his vanity, and he endeavored to counterfeit his illustrious model in all respects. When it was announced that Alexander was on his way to Copenhagen, Carlson would appear at the hotel where the czar was staying and exactly like the czar's and later on would drive his four-in-hand through the crowded streets, baving right and left to the cheering populace.

Being rich, he scattered money freely, which fact added to his popularity. But the adulation he received was not without a price; for he was a rascally czar, and his subjects were plotting against him. He finally became insane and was sent to a madhouse, where he will remain while life lasts.—Copenhagen Letter.

An Honest Man In Maine.

A man who has been in a Lewiston office taking some business the other day went out forgetting a bundle of papers deposited on the table. Thinking he would return for it, the bundle was left undisturbed for a time. Not returning back, the owner of the office scrutinized the bundle and saw that it was a newspaper inclosing a lot of bank notes or greenbacks. He locked it in his safe and set a boy to inform the police.

The boy, however, who was surprised when informed of the fact and returned for the package, He afterward told the police that it contained nearly $4,000 in bills.—Bangor Commercial.

Weak In Spelling.

During the examinations for second and third grade certificates as public school teachers, 16 candidates were examined in spelling. Out of 50 words one missed four words, one six words, three seven words, one eight words, three 11 words, two 14 words, one 18 words, one 19 words and one 23 words. Twelve missed the word "crown," seven the word "seed," and 12 the word "goosander." All succeeded in spelling "galleroy," "parish," "fathom" and "copy" correctly.—Uncle Herald.

NOT LIKE NATURAL DEATH.

A Simulated Article on the Stage Too Dramatic and Thrilling.

On the stage, where action is the primary demand in the climax of the play, death can be simulated. One of the best known deaths on the stage is that of Camille in Alexandre Dumas' play. Camille is supposed to die from consumption, and the death comes from hemorrhage of the lungs. The action of the body following hemorrhage of the lungs has nothing dramatic about it. If the blood which breeds is very strong there can be an unusual simulation resulting from shock. Otherwise the death comes from loss of blood that pours from the mouth or from strangulation—that is, the lungs fill with blood so that the sufferer cannot breathe.

But such a death as this would not satisfy the demands of the stage or what are believed by the public to be the demands, and we therefore choose Camille in strong convulsions. There are many deaths on the stage in plays when the cause of death is supposed to be heart disease. As a matter of fact there are a number of diseases of the heart, in the majority of which the person dies because the heart simply stops beating. When this happens the real death is like nothing so much as faint or syncope. The sufferer merely collapses, and the end has come.

About such deaths, however, there is nothing dramatic, and actors and actresses therefore generally choose to personate that form of heart disease known to physicians as angina pectoris. In this diagnosis the most interesting part conceivable is the suffering from it not only manifest the intolerable character of the pain by walking up and down, by moaning or crying, by throwing the arms about and sometimes by beating the chest with the clinched fist, but they often have convulsions in which all parts or limbs of the body are violently distorted. This disease gives any person ample opportunity for dramatic effect.

In many plays the characters are supposed to take poison, and the popular belief as to the effects of the poison is as mistaken as it well can be. Colic follows swallowing arsenic. It is ordinarily believed that the effect of laudanum or opium in any form is to put a person to sleep. Not so. The virtues of many poisons, but invariably the first effects of the drug are to enliven and excite the person taking it.

When, then, you see the heroine in the dungeon swallow the contents of the bottle of laudanum and at once sink into a profound slumber, you are watching something that never yet took place. The effect of arsenic on probably so great a portion of human beings is to put them to sleep, and as this effect is much more lasting than the first excitement it has possession of the popular mind. The convulsions which so often follow the taking of poison on the stage may be produced by a common poison, strychnine. The speaking, strychnine does not produce convulsions in which there is a great and rapid movement of the limbs. The muscles of the back and thighs are contracted into a sort of prolonged rigidity so that the sufferer is bent backward like a bow and often is supported by his hand and heels, the body being arched between.

Miss Croiset, in Paris, when playing in "La Sphinx" created a great sensation and made a name for herself. She went to Dr. Charcot, the eminent physician, of Paris, and learning from him the effects of poisons chose strychnine and had the name inserted in the play. She went to Dr. Charcot, the eminent physician, of Paris, and learning from him the effects of poisons chose strychnine and had the name inserted in the play. She studied carefully all the effects of strychnine and secured several doses and gave them the poison, watching the spasm that followed. She produced such a perfect simulation of the results following the swallowing of strychnine that not only the daily press praised her, but one of the medical journals devoted quite a long article to this sort of play and added many statistics to go to the point for the purpose of simulating the symptoms of poisoning by strychnine. For one Croiset that you will find on the stage, however, you will easily see 100 victims of poison who simply cause the physician to smile.—North American Review.

Two Climates in Madagascar.

The island of Madagascar has two distinct climates, two classes of natives and two classes of fauna and flora. The island is about the size of France. Along the coast it is tropical and malarial, and the interior is darker and lower than in the interior. The interior is a high tableland and mountainous. There the climate is cooler and lighter in color than on the coast, but in the interior they are more intelligent and they rule the land—Philadelphia Press.

not a French kid.

"Have you any shoes that fit the little girl?" inquired a son of the Queen. The sale of a dapper young clerk in a Washington street office stored the other day.

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "We carry a full line for children's wear. Step this way, please. French kid."

"No, goob. She's Irish."—Boston Globe.

At Newport, Ark., the jury in the case of Albert Mansker, one of the Oilfield train robbers, who killed Conductor W. P. McNally of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railroad, returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. Mansker is the third of the gang that receives the verdict. Judge Butler passed sentence upon Mansker and his previously convicted accomplices, James L. Wyrick and Thomas Brady. It was that each be hanged April 6.

The latest society organized in Hartford, is the Amalgamated Association of Unscrupulous Liars, which holds sessions almost every night at some one of the various stores in town. The first public exhibition was on last Tuesday night, when the members lied for the championship of the club. Mr. S. A. Andersen carried off the honors without difficulty, but his closest competitors, Messrs. J. W. Williams and R. E. Simmerman, say they will fix him next time. It requires no effort on the part of members of this society—it is a matter of spontaneity with them—Hartford, (Ky.) Republican.

HORSE AND TRACK.

M. E. McHenry will be seen behind Direct 2055 this year.

Macy 2:294 by George Wilkes sold for $4,000 at Lexington, Ky., Wednesday.

The indications are that more horses will be trained in 1894 than were trained in any previous year.

The yearly death rate of horses in New York City is estimated at 14,000, while 12,000 more go lame.

Arion, 2:075, will be entered in the free-for-all classes next season if he trains well.

Boromir, bay horse by Baron Wilkes, brought $1,360 in the Chicago sale last week. He was sold to W. A. Fanning, of Chicago.

Nelson, 2:039, and Allerton, 2:094, are the only two trotters in the 2:10 list that were given their records by the men who bred them.

It is said the first horse was brought to this continent in 1518. There are now in the United States alone 14,000,750 horses, valued at $11,000,000.

At Peter C. Kellogg & Co.'s sale in New York, Wednesday, Hazel Wilkes 2:113, sold for $5,500. Una Wilkes 2:115, $3,400. Jean Wilkes $1,600. Sabina 2:154, and Nellie Aldine $3,500.

William Penn, 2:121, will be in all probability to be in the stable of the veteran John E. Turner, who is the owner of Santa Claus, 2:174, the sire of this speedy trotter.

R. Peppier & Son shipped last week sixty-four head of trotters, the get of Onward, Norval and Madrid, to Chicago, and they were sold in the Berry & Co. sale on Thursday. The lot sold for $20,475, an average of $319.19.

Mr. L. H. Hudson, of Danville, has sold to a New York gentleman a handsome combined New York saddle and fancy cart horse for $1,000. He is said to be one of the finest horses of the kind that ever left Boyle county.

The present condition of the trotting horse market is such that a trotter that can go out and demonstrate that he is a trotter is more valuable than if he had a record, for his earning capacity is so much the greater, while the value of a trotter that cannot trot is very chimerical.

Every owner should find out just how much expense he can stand before he expects returns, and figure accordingly, and keep all the older horses that can win their oats out to the races, and train all the youngsters to find out as quickly as possible whether they are worth keeping or not—American Sportsman.

Woodard & Shanklin's sale of horses last week at Lexington, was well attended, but ruled low. Jay Hawker, 2:143, brought $8,000; Hawker, 2:17, $2,400; Macy, by Geo. Wilkes, $4,000. The average the first day on 56 head, was $454; 71 head the second day, averaged $240.

Ed Geers will strike the circuit this season with a magnificent string of flyers. The stars which will carry Hamlin's colors to victory next summer are already getting their preliminary work at the covered track at Buffalo, and long before the bell rings they will be ready to receive the word. Hal Pointer is again to be a member of the string, and the peerless Fantasy, 2:082, will also score for the stable.

In the opinion of Geers, the stable will be the strongest he has ever had and will be made up as follows: Hal Pointer, 2:044; Robert J. 2:055; Fantasy, 2:082; Nightingale, 2:104; Moonstone, 2:124; Globe, 2:144; Merry Chimes, 2:143; Mockingbird, 2:161; Pansy, 2:173; Ed Easton, 2:18; Heir-at-Law, 2:203; Americans, 2:09-year-old trial 2:163; now four years old; Vice Regent (2), brother to Prince Regent, 2:161; Lord of the Manor (2) by Mambrino King; Gale Chimes (2) by Chimes; Red Hal, 2:132; Ohio Hal, a fast son of Brown Hal, 2:123; and one or two others. This is a string of flyers that ought to put in many fast miles.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

M. Hadden bought of Jas. Dunnigan ten sheets at $4.75.

G. L. Kirkpatrick bought of Gay & Haller, of Grassy Lick, 11,000 lbs of tobacco at $2.40s.

J. W. Mason, of Grassy Lick, sold a four year-old mare to a Pennsylvania gentleman for $235.

Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd. cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulence. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mother has repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

D. G. C. Ossom,

Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best medicine I have ever used. When my son was born I was afraid of what I might experience. I hope the day is not distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the dangerous medicines which are destroying their health, not by force, but by morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

J. F. Karcher,

Cowley, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D.,

Montgomery, N. Y.

"Our physician in the children's department has spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have one among our medical supplies what is known as regular medicine, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

which dropped a lamb on Wednesday night, January 24th. As the weather was extremely cold, it died. Monday night following the same ewe produced two more lambs, which are living. The owner of the ewe is authoritory for the story.

Wm. Clay, of Corydon, says: "I raised about fifty bushels of clover seed on about eighteen acres of land and am offered $5 per bushel for it. I realized $10 per acre for the first crop of hay on the land. The land has been benefited in the meanwhile, instead of injured. Tobacco is not in it by comparison."—Danville Advocate.

Mrs. Lena Young, the daughter of Jacob Young, of this county, recently sold 1,400 pounds of Pryor tobacco which brought $80.40, the highest that has been realized in the Owensboro market this year. She has also 2,000 pounds of Burley, not yet delivered in the parquet, which she raised herself. She has been running her father's farm for six years, and is making a success of it.—Owensboro Messenger.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

Sales on our market for the week just closed, amounted to 4447 hds., with receipts for the same period 3651 hds. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 25,115 hds. Sales of crop of 1893 on our market to date amount to 30,775 hds. The sales were large again this week; much the greatest part of the offering being new burley, for which prices were well sustained. The market closed firm and active with a tendency toward higher values, with the exception of some weakness the last few days on very common grades.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco, (1893 crop.)

Trash. (Dark damaged tobacco) $2.50 to $3.50.

Common color trash, $3.50 to $4.00 Medium to good color trash, $4.50 to $7.50.
